

Chloe Chambers, a 17-year-old racing talent from New York, became Gift of Adoption's first Ambassador this year. Chloe uses her platform to promote Gift of Adoption's mission of uniting vulnerable kids with permanent families, providing them with the chance to thrive.

Chloe Now

Chloe, originally from southern China, was adopted as an infant by Matthew and Shannon from Hudson Valley area New York. Chloe grasped on to Matt's interest in racing and cars from a young age, watching Formula One with him every weekend and watching him race his own car at a local track. At age 7 she told her parents that she was ready to drive too. Seeing her determination, they started her in lessons, and she began racing karts at age 8.

Chloe excelled in her sport, winning multiple national races and regional championships across the United States and Canada. In 2020 she was approached by Porsche to see if she could break a World Record in their 718 Spyder. She accepted their challenge and is the current Guinness World Record Holder for Vehicle Slalom (47.45 seconds- before she had an official driver's license)! Chloe, who drives at speeds up to 145 mph, says, "I don't really let myself get scared. I am aware and careful, but never scared. I have big goals and I plan to reach those goals. I am confident I can do it because of the support of my parents."

Young Chloe

Chloe has been featured on the Netflix series "My Next Guest Needs No Introduction with David Letterman," appeared on NBC's "Proving Grounds," and has been featured in countless automotive magazines and journals.

Chloe has become a role model for many, including her two younger siblings,

Oliver (12) and Emma Claire (9). Oliver and Emma Claire were also adopted but Chloe says she never thinks of her family as anything other than hers. "We are just like any other siblings; we love each other, and we fight!"

When Chloe was asked to be the first Ambassador for Gift of Adoption, her response was an emphatic yes.

"My parents and I were on board as soon as we heard about the organization. It means a lot to me to be able to help other kids receive the gift that my siblings and I received- the gift of family."
